

Children aged 7-10 years and their parents needed for a study on gaze behaviours!

The Developing Brain lab is looking for children aged 7-10 years old to take part in a study which examines brain activity during viewing of emotional faces.

Parents: During your visit you will be asked to fill out some questionnaires while your child completes some paper and pencil tests. Following this, your child will complete visual tasks on a computer while we measure eye behaviours and brain activity.

Your participation would involve 1 session, and will be about 1.5 hours.

In appreciation for your time, your child will receive a gift card to a local bookstore.
